

CALL FOR PAPERS

35th IEEE

Southeastern Symposium on System Theory (SSST)

March 16-18, 2003
West Virginia University
Morgantown, West Virginia

Sponsored by: Lane Department of Computer Science & Electrical Engineering
Advanced Power Engineering Research Center
West Virginia University
Electrical and Computer Engineering, WVU Tech
IEEE West Virginia Section

Original papers from all areas of systems theory, its design and application, as well as proposals for invited sessions, are solicited. Graduate students are invited to submit their thesis and dissertation research. All accepted papers must be presented at the symposium and will be published in the conference proceedings which will be available at the symposium. Preferred topics include:

Adaptive Systems & Control
Artificial Intelligence
Disturbance Accommodating Control
Computer Aided Design
Discrete Event Systems
Distributed Parameter Systems
Education
Electromagnetics
Expert Systems

Fuzzy Systems & Control
Image Processing
Information Theory
Instrumentation
Intelligent Control
Kalman Filtering
Linear Systems
Markov Chains

Micropocessor Systems
Modeling & Simulation
Multidimensional Systems
Networks
Neural Networks
Nonlinear Systems
Optics

Optimal Estimation
Parallel Architecture
Pattern Recognition
Power Systems
Process Control
Radar Systems
Robotics
Robust Control

Signal Processing
Stochastic Processes
System Identification
Target Tracking
Telecommunication Systems
Time Varying Systems
VLSI
Wavelets

DEADLINES/CALENDAR

Summary (500-1,000 words).....	October 15, 2002
Notification of Acceptance	December 6, 2002
Camera-Ready Originals and Registration Fee.....	January 20, 2003
Presentation.....	March 17-18, 2003

Prospective authors are invited to submit 3 copies of a 500-1,000 word summary for review. Prospective organizers of invited sessions should submit proposals containing summaries of all papers. Please include a separate title page containing the following information:

- Title of the paper
- List of 3 keywords that characterize the subject of the paper
- Name of corresponding and presenting author with affiliation, complete snail-mail and e-mail addresses, phone and fax numbers

Submission must be a PDF file attached to an e-mail message addressed to the Technical Program Chairman. Please do not submit summaries of papers by FAX or send hard copies.

Please e-mail summaries to:
